

The Last Word in Engine Protection

Nology, a leading innovator of high performance automotive and motorcycle performance products, now offers DV8, the world's most advanced engine lubricant.

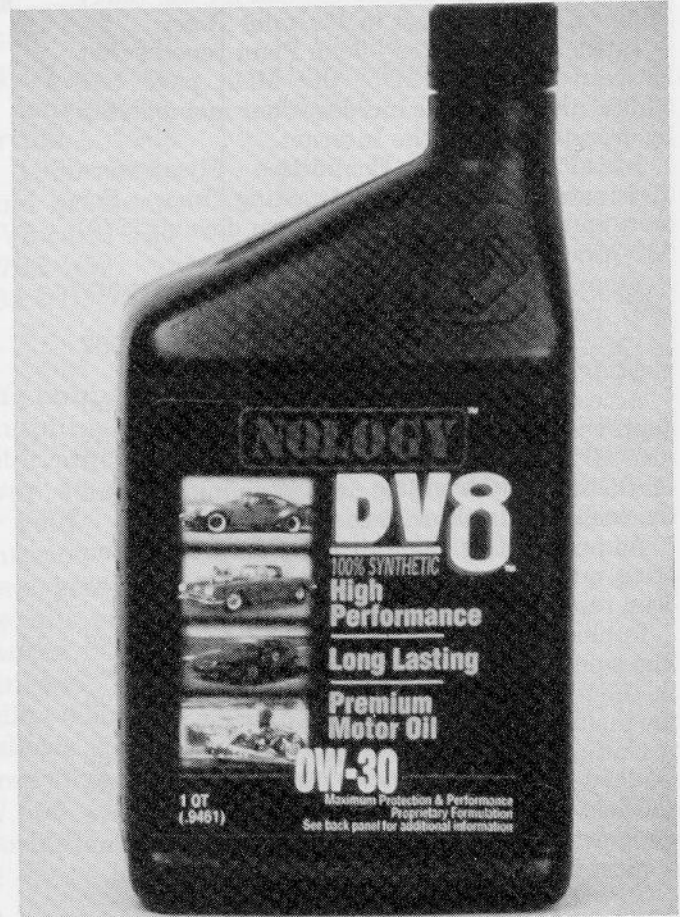

DV8 is a uniquely blended, 100% synthetic oil formulated especially for the demands of high performance, high-revving engines. The race proven formula provides increased horsepower and torque by allowing engines to perform with reduced friction and at a lower temperature.

Nology's unique approach to automotive performance has resulted in this lubrication breakthrough. DV8 outperforms all other motor oils by using only the highest quality base stocks and additives. By taking this extra effort, Nology DV8 delivers superior lubricating ability with no viscosity breakdown or sludge build-up.

As impressive as Nology's DV8 is for performance applications, it is just as important for everyday cars, trucks, and motorcycles. DV8 makes it possible for engines to work easier, improving fuel mileage and engine life. DV8 also eliminates the need for additional oil additives as it can not be upgraded. Changing your oil can also be done less often.

DV8 far exceeds the demands of all racing, fleet and street applications. It also exceeds all engine manufacturer's warranty requirements and is fully compatible with all conventional and synthetic motor oils.
