

CARROLL SHELBY: AN AUTOMOTIVE LEGEND

The editors of Mustang Monthly have written a book about Carroll Shelby. Scheduled for release on November 6, 2007, the coffee-table quality, oversized magazine will surely become a collectible.

Contributors are Donald Farr, Tom Corcoran, and Austin Craig. Coverage includes Shelby's racing victories, his influence on Ford, Chrysler, and GM; exclusive interviews with Shelby and his test driver; and the future of Shelby Automobile Company.

Don't miss this book on the newsstand. It will be on sale for 90 days. After that, you'll probably have to search for it on eBay.

TOTAL FORD PERFORMANCE

R&A Motorsports Inc. in conjunction with racinboys.com will host a weekly webcast called "Total Ford Performance." The show will run every Tuesday from 7:00 - 8:00 p.m. CDT. The show can be found at www.racinboys.com and will center on Ford Motor Company products. Total Ford Performance will have guests from the Ford universe past and present, along with industry insiders, a technical segment, and also will feature a Ford car each week. Initially the show will be similar to a radio show in that the listener will hear the live segment and can call in and interact with the host. There will also be video on demand that can be accessed approximately two hours after the live broadcast, this way the viewer can watch the show anytime they desire. The show is hosted by Russ Dickey and Jeff Yergovich.

Log on and listen to the September 11th discussion with Austin Craig, MCA National Director and Publisher of Mustang Times, and Donald Farr, editor of Mustang Monthly. MCA National Director Jim Silverman is scheduled to be a guest on September 29, 2007.

Host Rust Dickey is the Marketing Manager for GoMotorbids.com, an internet-based company that buys and sells car-related collectables. Jeff Yergovich is the owner of R&A Motorsports, Inc. Jeff has been restoring Shelby Mustangs since 1975. He opened his retail doors in February 2007 specializing in 1965-1970 Shelby Mustang Restoration, parts, and service. Additionally, R&A also does sales and service for late model Mustangs and are currently building the 2008 Twister Mustangs.

MUSTANG TAKES 3 J.D. POWER HONORS

Ford's iconic pony car came out on top in three major consumer surveys sponsored by J.D. Power & Associates. All three surveys—the Initial Quality Study (IQS), the Automotive Performance, Execution and Layout (APEAL) Study, and the Vehicle Dependability Study—chose Mustang as the leader in its mid-size Sporty Car segment.

In early June, the Mustang galloped to a first-in-class win in the IQS report, which measures problems per 100 vehicles as reported by customers after three months. The Mustang joined the Mercury Milan, Lincoln MKZ, Lincoln Mark LT and the Mazda MX-5 in sweeping their segments for top honors in the IQS, making Ford the only company with five initial quality winners this year.

In late June, Mustang backed that up with a win in the APEAL study, in which customers rated their delight with the design, content, layout and performance of their vehicles after three months of driving.

And in September, the Mustang earned the top ranking in its class in the VDS report, which measures the quality of three-year-old vehicles as reported by customers.

HANNAH ORR MEETS CARROLL SHELBY

I'm sure most of you've read the story about Hannah Orr, the PA teen who decided to ask for a Cruise-In for her 16th day to raise money for charity.

Well, she got her wish (September 2007 Mustang Times, page 16).

On Saturday, August 25, 2007, Hannah presented a check for $2,000 to Carroll Shelby in person at the Tasca Ford show.

David & Robin Orr trailered their beautiful Mustang and brought their four children and one of Hannah's friends along to Rhode Island to attend the Saturday show, and give Hannah the opportunity of a lifetime!

Carroll Shelby was so gracious to the nervous young lady, giving her a hug. But, Hannah rebounded quickly and the two had a nice conversation.

Way to go, girl! We need more teens like you—what a tremendous example for others your age!

Planning to study Automotive Design and Engineering, Hannah is currently a high school Junior.

Bless you, Hannah. We are all proud of you!
