Q-RAY WINNER

Q-Ray, manufacturer of a 45th Anniversary Mustang Sports Bracelet, and an advertiser in Mustang Times, ran a contest in their October ad asking readers to send in photos of their Mustangs.

They chose Bud Pyle, member of the MCA and Daytona Mustang Club, as the winner. Look for their ad, featuring Bud's Mustang on page 49.

Congratulations, Bud!

LOGO SHIRTS, HOODIES, JACKETS

New Multi-logo jackets, team shirts, hoodies, and T-Shirts are available from Stang Stuff, just in time for gift-giving.

The Bullitt Mustang Jacket is the first-ever licensed Bullitt Jacket. It is meant to be subtle, like the car. The 2008/2009 bulls-eye logo appears on the front and the main logo is in the back, with the word "Mustang" in black, below "BULLITT." Only 500 of this design were made. It includes a collectible Steve McQueen hang-tag and has high-quality embroidery. The final design was chosen and approved by Steve's son, Chad McQueen.

The new Mustang Multi-Logo Pit Shirts are a great lighter shirt that can be worn year round. Get a set for your entire race team or family! The Mustang Multi-Logo Hoodies have the same high quality embroidery as the Pit shirts and the jackets, and feature a warm, comfortable shell lining. Front zip-up with pockets to keep your hands warm. The T-shirts make great stocking stuffers.

Free US shipping by USPS Priority Mail for all MCA members on Jackets, Hoodies & Pit Shirts. Worldwide shipping available!

428 COBRA JET MUSTANG REGISTRY

Scott Hollenbeck and Chris Teeling are the administrators of the 428 Cobra Jet Mustang Registry. They are planning on publishing their first registry in early 2010. The book will be available in the spring.

They are requesting that owners of 1968 1/2, 1969, and 1970 428 Cobra Jet Mustangs consider registering their cars with them while we still have time to add them to the ones we have already registered.

Log onto their website at www.428cobrajete.org for further details and to register.

DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS:

In the November 2009 issue, in the "Letters to the Editor," the email address for Terry McCoy was listed incorrectly. His correct email address is: hot35ann@aol.com

Also, in the California National Show coverage, I stated that Jim Chism lives in Texas. He is a proud resident of the state of Tennessee! Sorry, Jim! I keep trying to move you. We apologize for the inconvenience.

'10 UNLEASHED

Four passionate gamers who have burned rubber on the racetrack through their video game consoles brought their racing dreams to life at an actual speedway for the 8th installment of the Mustang '10 Unleashed campaign.

Ford called upon the gaming community and staged a tournament with the best Need for Speed™ players to determine who would face the ultimate challenge. As masters of the video game racing world, the winners played Need for Speed to hone their driving skills. The selected gamers competed against each other in the critically acclaimed Need for Speed SHIFT™, which includes the new 2010 Ford Mustang.

After they battled it out on their Xbox consoles, the four gamers received a chance to race "for real" at Willow Springs Raceway in Rosamond, CA. The contestants included Kirby Anderson (25); Troy Alessi (22); Justin Keppler (24); and Jason Morrell (24).

"The whole point of the Mustang Unleashed Campaign is to intersect the passions of our life-long Mustang lovers with their most creative, wildest, most impossible dreams," said Steve Ling, car group marketing manager for Ford Motor Company. "We've taken two seemingly different worlds and weaved them into one amazing Unleashed experience for these four winners."

To watch Troy Alessi earn bragging rights on both the virtual and real-life speedway, check out the video chronicling the Need for Speed experience at www.the2010Mustang.com.

GREEN CAR CHALLENGE

"The Jay Leno Show" has recently had a four-wheeled guest—an all-new battery-electric Ford Focus. The electric car appeared in a segment called "Green Car Challenge." Tuned to perform on a racetrack that was specifically designed for "The Jay Leno Show," the battery-electric Ford Focus is being used throughout the first season. Celebrities who accept the challenge will be at the wheel, driving quickly to establish a fast lap time that future guests will try to beat. The electric Focus to be driven by celebrity guests on "The Jay Leno Show" is a one-of-a-kind vehicle, based on the European five-door production Focus ST, modified into a battery electric vehicle (BEV) as part of Ford's BEV test fleet. This specific car started life as a European production Focus ST, built in Germany in July. The car was delivered to Ford in Dearborn, MI, where engineers went to work, removing the traditional engine and gas tank and installing an entire electric powertrain—all in six weeks. With Recaro racing seats, a roll cage, a five-point racing harness and wearing a unique (and fitting) Electric Orange paint scheme, the battery electric Focus ST is ready for racing.

The car is specifically tuned to perform on the track built alongside "The Jay Leno Show" studio at NBC. To help improve performance, Ford created a similar track at their proving ground in Michigan to test the vehicle so it would be ready to handle the tight turns.
