The Mustang Fastback is owned by Joseph Manduke of Doylestown, Pa. who purchased it in 1980 from its second owner. The Mustang is all original, except for paint, even to the black and gold engine, with several of its original decals still in tact. It's a 289 automatic with power steering.

The 1966 Shelby GT350 is owned by Carol Padden, also of Doylestown. The car is a restored, never rusty, Shelby that spent most of its life in Pennsylvania. It's a 289 four-speed with Lemans cam, Detroit locker, Koni shocks, alloy wheels, wood steering wheel, fiberglass rear deck, racing mirror and Lemans racing stripes. It boasts the Penn. license plate GT-350.
