A Child's Point of View

The weather is warming,
Gone is all of the snow,
I'm afraid the time's coming
When the Mustang comes out to show.

Dad gets busy working,
He has no time for me,
He polishes and shines the car
From roof to trunk door key.

Every Sunday we now will go,
First to church then on to a show.
While in the car, I dare not touch
Parts that are shined from the wheel to the clutch.

We get to the show, it sure is hot!
Not much to do but walk on the lot.
I hear my parents, they ooh and they aah!
But all I see is car after car.

I beg for a quarter, I beg for a dime
Might as well eat to help pass the slow time.
Can't find any kids about my own age,
Better not gripe or they'll get in a rage.

Dad says when I'm older like maybe sixteen,
I'll love all the car shows for the boys I'll have seen.
But right now I truly cannot understand,
The love of a Mustang, let alone a young man.

My folks are real happy, the car didn't get beat,
They have a trophy, I have sore feet.
Time to go home now, the sun's going down,
My eyes are so droopy, I utter no sound . . .

More on Collector Car Insurance

We have been informed by Hoke Rawlins of Classic Insurance Agency (one of our valued advertisers) that collector car insurance, including special liability coverage, is now available for any "collectible" car. Our previous information indicated that cars newer than 1967 could not be covered under these special policies. For Mustang, Shelby, and Boss owners who otherwise qualify, the collector car insurance policies are very attractive and perhaps offer superior coverage over ordinary policies.

For more information, contact Hoke Rawlins, Classic Insurance Agency, One Perimeter Way, N.W., Suite 220-A, Atlanta, GA 30339, (404) 955-8787, or your own insurance agent. Hoke will also be available for additional information at the Eastern National Show.

WE GOOFED!

On page 28 of the March issue, Bodystyle code 76B should read CT, L/I, B/S.
