

Judox Universal Oil has been the key to the success of the Mustang

This 1964½ Skylight Blue convertible was restored by owner Paul Watts of Half Moon Bay, California. Paul says the hardest part was finding the color keyed door lock buttons and the unique seat belt hardware for the '64½. The 170 six and cruise-o-matic are still going strong after 50,000 miles.

Christopher Wilkins inherited this one-owner 1965 coupe from his grandfather. Options on this Woodstock, Virginia, pony include vinyl roof, back-up lights, console, radio, and power steering.

John and Pauline Binge are proud owners of this Brisbane, Australia based 1971 Mach I. This Yellow Gold Mach sports a 351-4V with Ram-Air, C6 Automatic, and Magnum 500 15" wheels. This stock original 42,000 mile pony "drives and looks like brand new!"

Kingsport, Tennessee is home to this Senior Modified 1965 convertible. Owner Ralph Smith is one of the original members of the MCA, and has attended nearly every MCA National since 1976. Modifications to Ralph's '65 include velour interior, "chain" steering wheel, and many chrome components in the engine compartment.
