

MUSTANGS UNLIMITED CATALOG FOR 1985

At last a Mustang Parts Catalog that's organized so everyone can find the part they're looking for!

If you've ever tried to look up a part for your car in a parts catalog, you usually find it's "mission impossible". That's because most catalogs are written and designed by parts people. It's done on a numerical computer system that is beyond anyone that doesn't work with it daily. Some catalogs do have an index, but this only helps if you know the name of the part. Until now the only solution was to call up the parts store and try to find someone sympathetic and compassionate enough to try to figure out what you are talking about.

Mustang owners, Mustangs Unlimited in Manchester, Connecticut, has just come to your rescue. The all new Mustangs Unlimited catalog for 1985 has been designed to make it easy for anyone to find the parts they want. They've considered the way people work on cars; they work on the mechanical parts to fix it, or they try to make their car look better. So the Mustangs Unlimited catalog is divided into two parts:

1. Dressing up your car.
2. The mechanical parts.

The catalog also includes sections on sheet metal and fiberglass parts, accessories, literature, patches, emblems, and models.

To make it easy to find a part there is a table of contents in the front of the catalog. To use the table of contents, all you have to know is what you are trying to do and where it is on the car. For example, suppose you wanted to replace the part that goes on the inside of the car on the side near your feet. You look up in the Table of Contents in the Dressing Up Your Car section. Part I: Inside Your Car, Section C: On The Side. On page 9 you see a photo of the part. Under the photo it says "Kick Panels — the part on the side by your feet."

Parts are not only easy to find, when you find them, you will also find everything else you need. For example,
